About HIXOR

Founder's Message

I'm Yuji Hirose, Founder of HIXOR.

Cybersecurity is no longer a concern only for companies and specialists. In a world where smartphones and the internet are essential to daily life, it is an important issue for everyone — regardless of age, occupation, or where you live.

Picture your home for a moment.

Its walls and locks protect our everyday lives. But what if there were a hole in one of those walls — so small you would never notice it?

The digital world is the same. The accounts and services we use without a second thought can develop security weaknesses before we know it. And even a small weakness can lead to leaked personal information or unauthorized access.

What matters is not to fear danger more than necessary, but to understand it correctly — and to start with what you can do.

Based in Japan, HIXOR aims to share cybersecurity information and knowledge in a way that is easy to understand, for people all over the world.

Toward a society where each person has the knowledge to protect their own information and accounts, and where companies and organizations can make use of digital technology with confidence.

To help realize that society, HIXOR will continue to provide trustworthy information and support practical security measures.

Cybersecurity, for everyone.

Founder, HIXOR
